prologue

our lives are measured in horizons. each new experience that we encounter is incorporated with our other experiences and is melted into new horizons along the path of wisdom and maturity... "we start out walking and learn to run".

we are youth, characterized by periods of experimentation and a quest for the natural. "we've only just begun." we've begun to discover many of the treasures that life holds for us... knowledge, friendship and a chance to become an active part of society.

we intended to emphasize our natural selves and the three treasures throughout our book. every aspect of framingham south high school is viewed casually and yet realistically, we have stressed the importance of being active in both academics and in extra-curricular activities.

our four years here have been filled with many new experiences all of which will influence us in the future. the horizons ahead of us are unlimited and "with a kiss for luck, we're on our way".

> karen moore cheryl welch the greatness of any cross-country team depends on the speed, consistency, and depth of the top seven runners. our harriers had fair speed and were consistent, our first and second men were within five seconds of each other, but our third man was thirty seconds behind the first, we needed someone to plug the gap, there was no one!

we've gone through four years together as a class, learning from our experiences, and developing into real people with real responsibilities.

we've been friends, and we've been enemies. we've been lovers and superficial acquaintances. we have been educated in the structured system which creates the meaningless hellos in the halls and the non-personal relationship of the classroom. it has also been the system which has given us the background of knowledge and experiences, to which most of us will owe our futures.

to this point our lives have been led by our school and by our parents. to this point we have been given direction, we have been given incentive, and we have been given purpose. the whole world has had a hand in creating our identities, it is now we who nust exercise the power to create, we who must show the world if it has succeeded or failed. for me, the world had succeeded antastically although it may never realize this.

i hope the future will hold many realizations about life for we've many lessons to learn in the art of tolerance and objectivity.

no matter how strange anything may seem, it is as close to us as God. also remember that if you are capable of feeling, you can ove any human being who is capable of feeling, whether he be the ugliest or most ignorant man on earth.

soon our lives will be up to us, no one else. i hope you find happiness and satisfaction, for yourself, and all that is part of you.

Congratulations to the Class of 1971

We know the sigh of relief that comes at the end of your final exam. Long years of study behind you, and a big wide world ahead.

But even at that it isn't the final test—or the end of your learning. The biggest tests still face you in the choice and fulfillment of your life's work. Many plan for college, some must reckon with the armed forces. Others will seek positions in industry, trade, business. We, at Dennison, congratulate you on your past accomplishments; if your future plans call for steady employment or summer work, we'll be glad to discuss your problems with you.

Our Employment Department will welcome the chance to outline opportunities existing in our offices, factory, and warehouse.

I.Thoughts about the hereafter

(or . . . Is there a life after graduation?)

Seriously, graduation isn't the end, you know. It's just the beginning. And it could be the beginning of one of the most challenging and fulfilling times of your life. At New England Telephone.

It could be, that is, if you want a job with a challenge as big as your ambition. We need people at New England Telephone—all kinds. People who are sincerely interested in the future.

And who are looking for more from their job than just work!

Your starting salary is good and you get automatic raises.

You don't need experience! Your advancement is tailored to your talents. And you get excellent fringe benefits.
